DETAILED ACTION

Status of Claims

1. This action is in reply to the Arguments/Remarks filed October 08, 2009.
Claims 1-6, 13-27 are currently pending and have been examined.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

2. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claim 27 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

Claim 27 recites "information creating each of the plurality of activity types". Does the information create the activity type or information from the user creates the activity type? The examiner has assumed the latter herein. The "information for determining the pre-determined mapping" is vague and indefinite since the pre-determined mapping involves merely accessing the pre-determined mapping in claim 1, further has no support in the specification and fails to recite who is doing the determining. The "storing is performed before displaying" is vague and indefinite since it is old and well known in the art that anything displayed on a computer screen must be previously stored in either volatile or non-volatile memory before it can be displayed. The "storing before displaying therefore also fails to further limit the claim. The claim further recites "at least on of a plurality ... a type of meeting" and "the first on or the plurality ... is a specific meeting. The Examiner fails to understand how one of a plurality and the first of a plurality must be the instance of a specific meeting and the Examiner finds no support in the specification for this requirement. Claim 1 recites controls being a button while claim 27 recites keys. The Examiner fails to understand the reason for a change in terminology, if the buttons and keys refer to the same thing as is assumed herein.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

3. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

4. Claims 1-6, 13-26 are rejected under U.S.C. 102(b) as being unpatentable over Vance, U.S. Patent No. 6,442,526.

receiving, from at least one user, information creating each of the plurality of activity types, information for creating each of the plurality of expense types, and (new trip icon button 362, col. 11, lines 41-59, car rental button 390, fig. 14K, col. 11, lines 66-67, figures 15A-G, top menu bar, col. 11, lines 41-59, col. 11, lines 41-59) information for determining the pre-determined mapping, wherein the pre-determined mapping associates each of the plurality of expense types with at least one of the plurality of activity types (see column 8, lines 66-67, column 9, lines 1-10 autofill);

in response to the receiving, storing the information for creating each of the plurality of activity type, the information for creating each of the plurality of expense types, (col. 9, lines 11-22) and the information for determining the pre-determined mapping in the database, wherein the storing is performed before the displaying, (col. 5, lines 18-29)

the information for creating each of the plurality of activity types comprises information indicating whether one of the plurality of activity types is expensible, (see column 8, lines 66-67, column 9, lines 1-10 autofill)

the information for determining the pre-determined mapping comprises a plurality of keys, each of the plurality of keys is assigned to one of the plurality of expense types, and (new trip icon button 362, col. 11, lines 41-59, column 8, lines 66-67, column 9, lines 1-10) at least one of the plurality of activity types, a one of the plurality of activity types represents a type of meeting, (fig. 15B sales meeting) the first one of the plurality of activity types is associated with an instance of the first one of the plurality of activity types, and the instance is a specific meeting (fig. 15B sales meeting).

Claims 2, 4, 6:

Vance, as shown, discloses the following limitations:

establishing for the activity item a date designated by a user for the activity item (see column 8, lines 66-67, column 9, lines 1-10)

establishing for the created expense item the same date designated by a user for the activity item (see column 8, lines 66-67, column 9, lines 1-10)

Response to Arguments

5. Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 1-6, 13-26 have been considered but are not persuasive. In response to applicant's argument that the references fail to show certain features of applicant's invention, it is noted that the features upon which applicant relies (i.e., "plurality of expense types") are not recited in the rejected claim(s). Although the claims are interpreted in light of the specification, limitations from the specification are not read into the claims. See In re Van Geuns, 988 F.2d 1181, 26 USPQ2d 1057 (Fed. Cir. 1993).

Applicant argues that no activity types are selected from a plurality of types. Vance discloses an activity item, new trip icon button 362, col. 11, lines 41-59 and the plurality of activity types, figures 15A-G, top menu bar. The two distinct actions are first the selection of the activity item, new trip button, and second the car rental button 390, fig. 14K, col. 11, lines 41-67, col. 12, lines 1-5, figs. 14A-14N. Applicant argues that Vance does not disclose activation of the second button, creating an expense report. Vance discloses a new expense report fig. 16A, item 450, col. 12, lines 54-67. The predetermined mapping of the instant application described in the specification is an activity item automatically associated with a particular expense type, is shown in Vance column 9, lines 1-10 autofill.

Conclusion

6. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).
